Greece is the word

Say hello to Navarino Hills, the latest addition to the ambitious Costa Navarino project, located in the ancient Greek region of Messinia. This picturesque part of the southwest Peloponnese will soon open two brand new 18-hole golf courses, both designed by two-time Masters champion and Ryder Cup legend Jose Maria Olazabal. With an emphasis firmly on sustainability, these tracks look certain to do two things: massively enhance the credentials of Greece as a golf holiday destination; and cement Olazabal's reputation as one of the game's most influential – and important – golf course architects.
